Alexander Hamilton U.S. Custom House

One Bowling Green New York, NY10004

Re: In re Celsius Network LLC, No. 22-10964 (MG) – Breach of Custody Settlement

Dear Chief Judge Glenn,

Mr. Kirsanov submits the following motion to enforce a breach of settlement as a result of the debtor's failure to distribute the Custody Settlement² initial distribution in a timely manner in accordance to the Settlement agreement. Mr. Kirsanov indicates that the debtor was unable to satisfy his request in-kind in a timely manner due to their custody disbursement wallet not having adequate funding. Mr. Kirsanov notes that Blockchain data indicates that only after Celsius made a deposit³ of 500,000 CEL Tokens to their Custody disbursement wallet on May 24th of 2023, they were able to satisfy the shortfall issue. Mr Kirsanov's Requests to fulfill his request in an alternative Cryptocurrency, as called for by the Custody Settlement, went unanswered and unfulfilled. This calls for petition day value of Mr. Kirsanov's CEL Token that was failed to be timely disbursed converted into another Cryptocurrency as of 3/21/23, with the Settlement notes in the following bulletpoint.

- In the event that the Debtors have an insufficient amount of certain types of cryptocurrency to make all distributions in-kind to satisfy the Shortfall Issue, the Debtors shall make distributions in alternative cryptocurrencies, which conversion rate shall be determined using the value of the original digital asset as of the Petition Date in U.S. dollars that will be converted into alternative available cryptocurrency based on the value of such digital asset as of the date of entry of the Settlement Approval Order.

Mr. Kirsanov accepted the Custody Settlement. As a result of Mr. Kirsanov having a loan and Pure Custody assets, which included all of his CEL Token in his Custody Account, Mr. Kirsanov was unable to withdraw his Pure Custody assets pursuant to the Withdrawal Order⁴.

⁴ <https://cases.stretto.com/public/x191/11749/PLEADINGS/1174901312380000000181.pdf> 1958

In an email chain⁵ to the debtor's counsel asking to obtain payment in an alternative Cryptocurrency, they did not answer Mr. Kirsanov's request on his alternative Cryptocurrency as called for by the Custody Settlement in a shortfall event.

In an email chain⁶ to Mr. Bryan Kotliar from the Togut Law Firm who had arranged the Settlement agreement, this issue was news to him and he had indicated he did not have enough information from Celsius to understand if there was a breach of settlement. Further emails went unanswered with regards to inquiries on the breach of settlement.

In a Customer Service chain⁷ with Celsius, they had indicated erroneously that Mr. Kirsanov had a 1 year lock up period on his CEL Token. On the final dialogue on May 22th of 2023 with Customer Service about this, Celsius indicated the CEL Tokens were unlocked. Mr. Kirsanov alleges that due to a shortfall in their Custody Wallet, they did not distribute funding to their wallet until two days later, where Celsius had funded the account with 500,000 CEL Tokens.

In communication with the UCC regarding this, Mr. Kirsanov never received a response⁸ back.

Numerous withdrawal attempts were cancelled⁹ on behalf of Celsius, until the Custody Disbursement Account no longer had a Shortfall of funding on the 24th of May.

⁵ EXHIBIT 1 BELOW

⁷ EXHIBIT 3 BELOW

⁸ EXHIBIT 4 BELOW

⁹ EXHIBIT 5 BELOW

Mr. Kirsanov notes, as part of the Blonstein Declaration¹⁰, Celsius lacked the adequate funds to transfer CEL funding from his Custody Account ahead of the Freeze and Bankruptcy, as liabilities exceeded the assets. Mr. Kirsanov had submitted multiple requests to transfer his eligible funds in their entirety on May 10th of 2023, however after dozens of attempts with varying numerical attempts, was only able to transfer out 25,000 CEL Tokens.

Mr. Kirsanov believes he is entitled to pursue his rights under this Breach of Settlement as his withdrawal request was not fulfilled pursuant to the Settlement Agreement, and did not provide an equal amount of petition day value on Mr. Kirsanov's CEL Token requests in alternative Cryptocurrency. Mr. Kirsanov believes his eligible 271,585 CEL tokens should have been at petition day values¹¹, pursuant to the Shortfall issue presented herein. Mr. Kirsanov requests the court to determine appropriate compensatory damages, punitive damages, and other related damages to this matter. In Mr. Kirsanov's opinion, the CEL Token Valuation dispute should not apply to this breach of Settlement claim, as this breach Mr. Kirsanov alleges happened before any determination of valuation or security status. Mr Kirsanov provides the court his error messages¹² as part of his attempts to withdraw his Custody Settlement, many of which were provided to the Debtor, Debtor's Counsel, UCC, and Mr. Kotliar.

¹² EXHIBIT 6 BELOW

Mr. Kirsanov, a creditor in this case, has taken the initiative to propose voluntary mediation and/or arbitration to the debtor's counsel Kirkland and UCC. However, regrettably, he has not received any response to this request despite a reasonable period having elapsed.

In light of this, Mr. Kirsanov is left with no alternative but to formally file this matter with the court, seeking your esteemed attention. It is worth noting that during previous correspondence with Mr. Kirsanov, Your Honor clarified that this court does indeed possess jurisdiction over the aforementioned case.

I kindly request the court's guidance on the next steps in this matter and would appreciate any assistance in expediting the proceedings.

I remain respectfully,

Dimitry Kirsanov, Pro Se

Hi,

The error is no longer apparent, however, my CEL withdrawal attempt of 200k was cancelled on behalf of Celsius with no indication.

Now, when attempting to withdraw any asset -- it indicates the error "Your SSN is not valid.", when I have fulfilled KYC already. Please see attached for latest message.

Hello,

Celsius indicates the following:

After reviewing your remaining CEL balance we see that it is a balance from an OTC purchase or balances from Earn in CEL rewards.

These balances are subject to a one-year lock up period which is still applicable. Once the lock up period ends, your balance will be available for withdrawal.

Does the settlement not allow immediate withdrawal? I am not sure why I have to wait any further.

Thank you,

Hello,

Please see the screenshots, which include my eligible balance amount. My eligible 36.25% balance is 271,585, and I attempted to withdraw 100,000. I just tried 50,000 and 30,000 and obtained the same errors. I also attempted 200,000 and 250,000.

Under the settlement agreement, in section 8. Distribution Procedures, it cites

"In the event there are insufficient in-kind digital assets to satisfy the Custody Settlement Payments, the remainder of such payments shall be made in cryptocurrency based on a manner that is tax-efficient"

Am I able to obtain payment in another cryptocurrency since I am unable to withdraw these large sums?

Thanks,

Hello!

I am attempting to withdraw some CEL tokens in accordance with the custody settlement. For instance, when withdrawing 100000 CEL, it tells me "Not enough funds, 100000 CEL requested, and only 271585 CEL is available"

Please note, ahead of bankruptcy filing and the freezes, I attempted to move my CEL and was provided a similar error, where I could not move my CEL.

Have uploaded the attachment with the error. Please advise. Thank you!

Looks like whatever the issue was, the communication you sent may have resolved it. It appears as though I am able to now initiate a transfer, I successfully tested 200k CEL pending Celsius' action.

I am interested to know if you do find that they breached the settlement agreement for not having my all my eligible funds ready on the effective date.

Hey Bryan,

Would I qualify for section 30 under the settlement, as the app indicates there is inadequate funding/disbursement capability on behalf of Celsius? Wondering if there is a breach of contract on behalf of Celsius for not allowing my timely withdrawal. I was the largest CEL token holder in Custody, valued at over 600k at time of BK filing.

"30. Distribution Procedures. The Custody Settlement Payments shall be made in-kind and the Debtors shall be permitted to make such payments using any combination of digital assets currently held in Custody Wallets or Aggregator Wallets (each as defined in the Blonstein Declaration), respectively, in an amount sufficient to satisfy such in-kind distribution. In the event there are insufficient in-kind digital assets to satisfy the Custody Settlement Payments, the remainder of such payments shall be made in cryptocurrency based on a manner that is tax-efficient."

Hello Dimitry,

Thank you for your inquiry.

After reviewing your remaining CEL balance we see that it is a balance from an OTC purchase or balances from Earn in CEL rewards.

These balances are subject to a one-year lock up period which is still applicable. Once the lock up period ends, your balance will be available for withdrawal.

If there is anything else we can assist you with, please feel free to reach out.

Hello UCC,

I accepted the Celsius Custody Agreement for my funds in my Celsius account. Quite a bit of my funds were Pure Custody and were not able to be withdrawn due to loans attached on the accounts.

When attempting to withdraw my CEL under the Custody Settlement, it indicates there are not enough funds available, even though I have more than enough eligible funds to withdraw. Celsius indicates this is because of a 1 year lockup on CEL tokens.
